The 2016 edition of the Summer School on Human Rights, Minorities and Diversity Management explores the theme of Integration/Disintegration through seminars that focus on a wide range of topics, from minority rights, migrant integration and right-wing extremism to direct democracy and the right to self-determination.

Selected topics

- A critical assessment of minority protection instruments
- Conflict resolution and diplomacy
- Indigenous rights in the face of climate change
- Civic nationalism and immigrant integration
- Religious diversity in contemporary societies

We offer thought-provoking seminars led by top academics, lawyers and practitioners working in international organisations. Field trips in South Tyrol and Switzerland will provide first-hand experience of local approaches to minority protection and diversity governance.
